Catch The Spirit

Baptist College is alive with an enthusiastic spirit. This enthusiasm spreads to everyone involved with BCC, and no one can resist the call of the "Buccaneer Spirit." This spirit reflects the pride and hope we have in our college.

The "Buccaneer Spirit" has helped us to set goals and to learn that with determination and unwavering hope that all of our goals are obtainable if we truly try.

Renee Bourque watches for the cue to begin cheering at Midnight Madness.

As the Buccaneer mascot, Mitch Embler shows his individual flair.

Hope Harrison and Judi Barker clown around at Club Drop-In.

Pam Nobles shows support of the Buccaneers in a new way at Midnight Madness.

Kenneth Pruitt enjoys the festivities on the Charleston Harbor Cruise.

Jackie Badgett, Lee Zettlemoyer, Audra Swann and Tia Price get acquainted.

Catch The Spirit

The "Buccaneer Spirit" is symbolic of the love, trust and sense of family that is ever present at BCC. We are many different people, yet we are all linked by the pride and hope we have in BCC and the touch of the "Buccaneer Spirit."

New friendships broaden students' lives and provide a spirit of comraderie on campus. The trials of growing up are eased by caring faculty, staff and friends. Campus activities are designed to help students meet each other and begin to build friendships.

The "Buccaneer Spirit" which is present on campus grows with each year and follows students as they leave Baptist College and move on to new adventures and new friendships.

Juggling frisbees is easy for David Anderson, who also juggles fire.

Vivacious faces looking for familiar faces, and unsure faces looking for friendly faces. The new combination of upper and lower classmen would be the life of everyone at Baptist College for the year. Many activities were planned to help everyone get acquainted.

Orientation was a week full of fun and excitement for everyone involved. The week started with Simon Sez, starring Bobby Gold. Michael Harvell was finally kicked out of the game after being harrassed by Mr. Gold seventeen times. Terry Lee Davis amazed the crowd with his concentration and received the winning trophy.

Orientation was the final deep breath of fun before students put the summer behind them to face another year of academics. Making so many new friends made it easier to endure exams, pop quizzes and ten term papers in one semester. The fun of Orientation Week made the hard work ahead a little easier to bear.

Orientation '86

Administrators Jim Mallory, Ann Carmichael, Jairy Hunter and Ron Hendrix join in the festivities.

Freshmen get acquainted with members of their own class at the barbeque picnic.

New freshmen friends encourage Michael James to take part in the activities.

Moving in was so much easier when there were so many helping hands.

Mary Jane Usher, Renee Hannah, Rebecca Anthony, Cam Irick and Stephanie Jones visit.

A Night In Heaven

While others danced, Sheryl Calcaterra and her husband decided to sit this one out.

"Shout" helped to get everyone in the crowd into the spirit of the evening.

Dining tables gave couples a chance to sit quietly and enjoy the spring evening.

Entertainment for the Spring Formal was provided by the popular band, Rivieras.

Lisa Bell and her date, Reel Robertson, dance to one of the slower numbers.

Presidential Inauguration

"Today a new chapter in the Baptist College story begins," said Gregory Horton, chairman of the Board of Trustees, at the inauguration of Dr. Jairy C. Hunter as the second president of Baptist College April 18.

"The challenge for me as president . . . is clear," said Dr. Hunter during the ceremony. "I must remain true to our mission, provide sound leadership and maintain an environment at Baptist College which will ensure that our programs and activities are presented from a Christian perspective."

"The future of Baptist College is bright, and I am confident that I will meet the charge." Dr. Jairy C. Hunter, Jr.

Guest speakers at the ceremony included Senators Strom Thurmond and Ernest F. Hollings, representatives from the S.C. Baptist Convention and academic institutions.

Gregory Horton, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, swears in Dr. Hunter as second president.

Dr. Hunter spends a moment with Senator Thurmond, one of the many distinguished guests present.

Laurie Horton, Jill Hunter and a friend take a moment to rest during the busy activities of Inauguration Week.

John Rogers, 1985-86 Student Government President, addresses Dr. Hunter on behalf of the students during the ceremony.

Making Memories

Each year holds special memories for everyone at Baptist College.

Freshmen will remember the year as a time of "firsts." The first college class, the first Convocation, the dreaded first college exam and the first time being thrown in the Reflection Pond.

Upperclassmen will remember the anticipation of seeing their friends again, making trips to Burger King and the beach, the first football game and Christmas break.

The experiences of college life will be remembered for many years to come. The special thrills of graduation, the President's Inauguration and beating the College of Charleston at anything will always be thought of with fond affection.

No matter how many miles away from BCC, it will always be home.

Remember when Stewart Uldrick took first place at the Citadel Invitational?

Remember when the awesome Buccaneer Football team slaughtered UNC-Wilmington 41-0?

Remember when the Soccer team made a grand entrance into Midnight Madness in togas?

Remember when Bobby Gold came to town and humbled the entire student body?

Remember when Mitch Embler instructed us on his techniques of mountain climbing?

Grand Finale

"There is plenty of challenge, reward and satisfaction ahead of you, and you'll need all the education, human skills and ethical values you have gained at Baptist College," said Charles A. Bundy, president of Springs Foundation, Inc. and guest speaker at the 1986 graduation ceremony.

Dr. Jairy Hunter handed out 10 master of science degrees, 29 bachelor of arts degrees, 165 bachelor of science degrees and three associate degrees.

Honory degrees were presented to Bundy, and Rev. J. Kirk Lawton, Jr., pastor of Ocean View Baptist Church in Myrtle Beach.

The graduates and their families were honored with a reception immediately following the graduation ceremony in the cafeteria.

Marty Youngblood proudly displays the Commencement program which includes his name.

David Roof and his guest find a quiet place to pose for photos.

Dr. Hunter congratulates Bong-Hyeun Suh of Korea on the completion of his degree.

Rosie Barton celebrates the completion of her college education.

Becky Ocker doesn't notice the festivities around her as she looks at her diploma.

Creative Personalities

There is never a dull moment at Baptist College due in part to the many fascinating people who make up the campus and student life. There are singers, actors, pageant contestants and winners, comedians, clowns, clowning comedians—you name it, and we have it at Baptist College. There is never a lack of activity with these talented people as friends. You don't have to travel far to enjoy good entertainment when these special people are right on campus. BCC is what it is due to the influence and dedication of these people.

Stan Austin finds working out with weights gives him an edge in the Reserves.

Ben Hinson, an All-American, is projected to be a first round NBA draft pick.

Concerts for the student body give Danny Nicholson and the band a great way to share.

Tim Rice practices his acting skills at the Opera Music Workshop.

Practice makes perfect for Lisa Webb, Miss Charleston, a talented vocalist.

Playing the guitar is one of Matthew Buckners many musical talents.

The City By The Sea

Only a short distance away from the campus is the city of Charleston—historical, cultural—away. Baptist College students get to know it well during their years of higher education.

Whether walking along the Battery or shopping, you are bound to notice a few students enjoying a refreshing time away from the pressures of everyday life.

The Charleston area offers students opportunities to study in museums and at historical parks such as Fort Sumter. Cultural events abound especially around the time of Spoleto. Charleston also offers wide recreational activities, many of which involve the water. Sailing, surfing, sunbathing at the beach, and water skiing are just a sample of the activities available.

Sailing is one of the many activities available to students on a sunny afternoon.

Bonnie Donne plantation provided a pleasant atmosphere for the BSU fall retreat.

There's nothing quite like a sunset along the coast of South Carolina on an early fall evening.

An abundance of seagulls can always be found along the beaches of Charleston.

A boat ride gives a chance to reflect on the semester's beginning.

Beautiful homes along the Battery can be seen on the Charleston Harbor Cruise.

Life Together

Whether opening your door to find yourself wallpapered in or flooded by a bucket of water, dorm life provides many opportunities for fun and revenge. Even during a game of football or near the Reflection Pond, the memories of dorm life are always with us.

Living with your peers 24 hours a day is a unique situation that probably never will be repeated again in your life time. Ordering pizza at 10:30 p.m., all-nighters cramming for exams, scheduling classes around soap operas and talking until three in the morning with your roommate are all everyday occurrences for dorm students.

Renee Miller and Mel Dubose take a break after decorating for a surprise party.

Mary Palmer knows that even college students still need their teddy bears.

Mark Evans' dorm room doubles as a putting green when the weather is poor outside.

With a big smile, John Alexander clowns around for the camera while on the Charleston Harbor Cruise.

Just Another Day

The typical day at Baptist College is quite unlike the one the day before and only a mild prediction of the one to come. At BCC, students are definitely spur of the moment, as they dash to class or make plans for after class. Trips to the mall, downtown, and numerous activities planned on campus are but a small part of student life.

Not only is each day different, but the activities are just as varied as the individuals who make up the campus.

Many students were eager to participate in "Simon Sez" with the crazy antics of Bobby Gold, nationally known entertainer.

Holly Stone catches a quick lunch between her afternoon classes.

Students relaxed at the barbeque picnic during Orientation Week.

The Reflection Pond with its calm water and ducks adds to the campus scenery.

Pricilla Hinson and Anita Kidd clown around after volleyball practice.

Dr. Hunter is greeted at the Halloween Carnival by David Anderson.

Greg McKenzie and Beth Goodale talk after a day spent in class.

Candid Camera

Instantaneously caught in the act of giving that infamous expression, these shots capture something special about each individual. By luck, planning, or patient waiting on that look, the year-book photographers captured it.

These are some of the people that make Baptist College such a unique place, and the characteristics that make each of them so unique.

These shots represent the special brand of humor and the brotherhood that exists among students, faculty and staff at Baptist College.

As campus minister, Marty Youngblood participates in many campus activities.

Dr. Hunter is always happy to see returning students after summer vacation.

Lisa Price and Mandy Masters take a break during pledge period for Phi Delta Chi.

Dr. Carmichael and Dr. Dean clown around at Midnight Breakfast.

A Winning Spirit

From the baseball diamond at the entrance to the campus to the quad areas at the back of the campus, sports—intramural and collegiate—are a part of student life.

What better way to relax and meet people than a pickup game of football or maybe basketball at Buccaneer Park? Or what better way to spend a Saturday than watching a soccer match?

Baptist College students participate in sport activities and show their spirit for their favorite team. A new pasttime on campus is tailgating before home football games or taking a road trip to an away game.

Tim Murphy makes running distance appear easy.

Even at midnight the Baptist College cheerleaders are enthusiastic.

Jose Castro concentrates as he keeps his eye on the ball.

Members of the football team celebrate a 41-0 victory over UNC-Wilmington.

Growing Spiritually

Sarah Sauls and Wil Bradham take time out during a busy day for Bible Study and devotional readings.

Who says God is dead? Evidently the atheists have not been on the Baptist College campus lately. Everywhere you turn you can see evidence of God's presence.

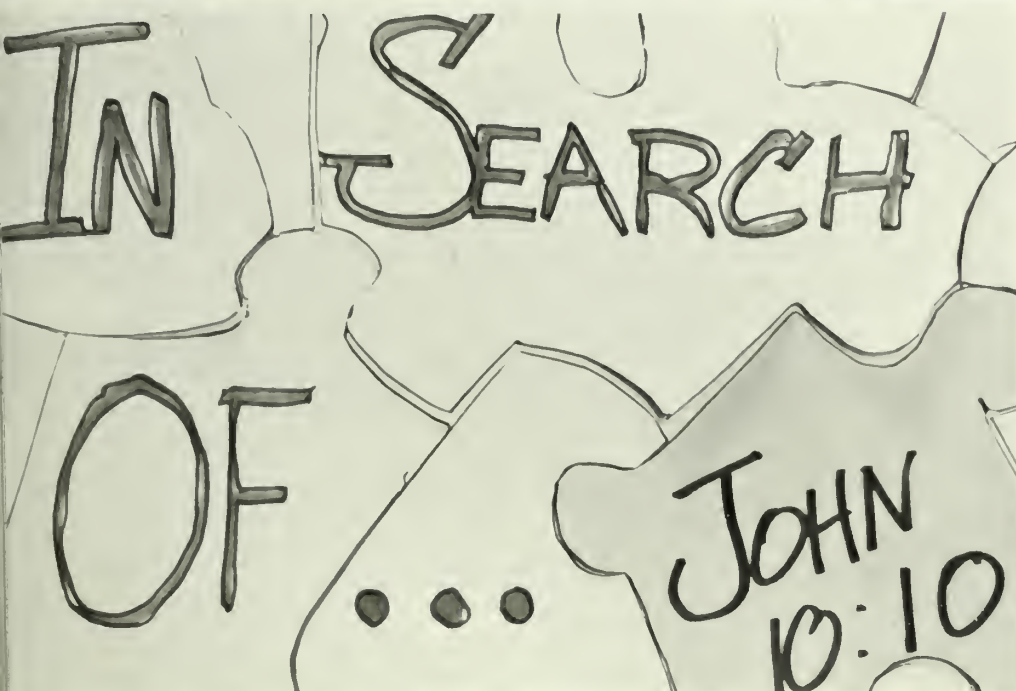

God is with the student who sits out on the park bench by the reflection pond with Bible in hand. God is also with the students who go to the Chapel prayer room to pray and talk their problems out with Him.

He is also with the students who have dorm room Bible studies. God is right there in the midst of the love and fellowship that they are engaged in.

God is with those who openly represent the school in ways such as athletics. The list could go on and on, but the point is that God is present.

Daily Bible study relieves the day to day pressures for Ann Waitt and Marty Youngblood.

Baptist Student Union helps to bring the pieces of life's puzzle together.

A rock-a-thon raises money for summer missions with the help of BSU members.

The Pride Is Back

Everywhere you look it's Baptist. There's a new spirit on campus, one we haven't seen for a while. A spirit of unity, pride, honor—a school spirit. A spirit we can be proud of for a school we are proud of. What we have seen this year is only a foretaste of what is to come, Baptist College is reaching new heights.

Students are reaching out into the community to share the Baptist College story and to serve the community's needs.

What has happened to Baptist College is only one example of what can happen when people become dedicated and care about what they accomplish. Such is the case with the students, faculty and staff of Baptist College. From the playing fields, to the academic classrooms, to the dorms, to the Chapel, new evidences of school pride are being seen.

Marching Band members play the Baptist College fight song with feeling.

Buccaneer fans support the football team rain or shine.

School pride spills over into dorm room decorations and activities.

Eddie Burch is proud to wear the Baptist College colors on campus and off.

With just six seconds on the clock, the fans agree the Runnin' Bucs are #1 in the Big South.

Headed For Success

The Lady Bucs, under the instruction of Coach Steve Taylor, completed last season at 11-14 with the best record in the college's history.

With a solid start at the beginning of the season, the Lady Bucs Basketball program continues to improve.

Growing confidence and skill is enabling the Lady Bucs to make their presence known in the Big South Conference.

Setting New Standards

Setting a school record for most wins in a season ended the Baseball season on a high note. The team finished at 32-19 with a fifth place finish in the Big South Conference.

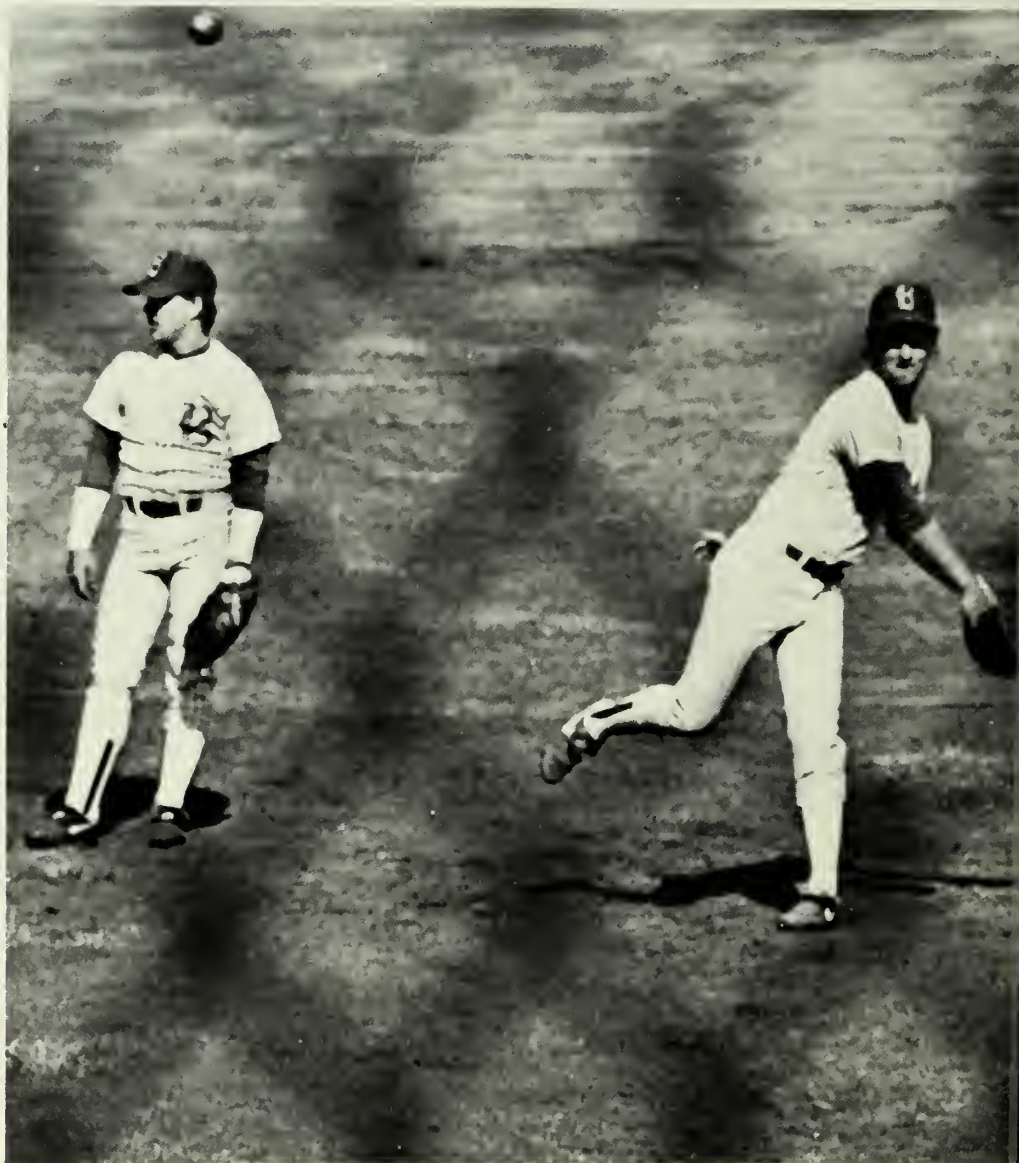

The Bucs started the season with back-to-back wins against University of North Carolina and University of South Carolina. These victories set the pace for a winning season.

Last year's Most Valuable Player Ivan McBride returned along with a host of young players who are ready to lead the Bucs to another record-breaking season.

Baseball players: Britt Blanton, Scott Brosky, Matthew Brownlee, Thomas Byrd, Donald Cady, Alton Cannon, David Capozzi, Scott Davis, Brian Dunn, Steven Ebersole, John Fellows, Paul Ferguson, Doug Fulton, Jamie Futrell, Kevin Futrell, Chris Gigis, Del Hardee, Courtney Jackson, David Johnson, Steve Johnson, Biff Jones, Randy MacKendrick, Ivan McBride, Richard Murphy, Robert Newton, Tony Parker, Donny Polzin, Richard Powell, Jack Sanson, Terry Shiley, Clay Shoemaker, Earl Smalley, Brad Stoudenmier, Carl Sumner, Michael Walsh, Vance White, Dan Wolfe.

Taking a full cut at the ball, the count moves to three balls, two strikes on the hitter.

Throwing warm-up pitches on the side lines helps pitchers loosen up before going in to the game.

Keeping his eye on the ball, the Buccaneer hitter takes the pitch high for ball one.

Full extension gives a pitcher more power off the mound which makes all the difference in a tight game.

Buccaneer runner slides safely into second base beating the throw from right field.

Off To A Fast Start

The Softball team finished its first season at a successful 19-22. Their major goals for the second season are winning Big South Conference Championship and having a winning season.

"We're returning everybody from last year's first-ever team, and I feel confident with the improvement we should be a contender in the Big South," said Coach Howie Bagwell.

The young team has been a welcome addition to the Baptist women's sports program.

Robin Cooper helps out the pitcher and gets a little extra practice as a bonus.

Bottom row: Sandy Barrett, Allison Waters, Dottie Harmon, Dana Lawrence, Cara Grimm, Olga Soto, Tammy Poteat, Michele Futch, Row 2: Lori Brooks, Wendy Metts, Lisa Bursey, Chris Hudson, Laurie Darragh, Chris Fedrizzi, Ally Waters digs in for a clean, even swing. The Lady Bucs finished the season at 19-22.

Dori Beach sizes up the competition and waits for the catcher's signal.

Placing her weight on her back foot, Dottie Harmon swings hard to slam the ball into right field for a base hit.

After checking out the score, infielders Cara Grimm, Robin Cooper, Lori Wyndam and Laurie Darragh discuss their strategy.

A Season of Victories

The Baptist Women's Track team entered the track program with a record of 8-1 in their first season. The women illustrated that they can compete in the successful Baptist program.

The men's team finished at 19-4 to continue the winning heritage built by the track program over the years.

Head coach Jim Settle led the men's and women's teams into a tough schedule and came out on the plus side.

The Track team continues to represent the college with first-class talent.

David Lee knows the importance of staying in practice to compete in the hurdles with the best from other schools.

Building A Foundation

Struggling with a very tough schedule, a young inexperienced Tennis team gained valuable experience in building a solid tennis program.

The young men's team finished with a 1-17 record. The women's team set a school record for most wins in a season with a 5-9 record.

First-year coach Skip Scarpa is building a foundation with a young team to put the Baptist Tennis program on the winning side.

Taking To The Green

The Golf team completed its season at 5-9 which is the best dual match record in the history of the college. The team competed well in several big tournaments led by junior Mark Evans and senior Clay Pennington.

Under the direction of first year coach Jim Barrier, the team is looking to Mark Evans, Stuart Pettit and Curtis Boyd for leadership and experience.

After a record-setting season, the Golf team has high hopes for a successful future.

Mentally preparing himself for the shot, Curtis Boyd tightens his grip.

Chip Lewis concentrates to get out of a tight situation.

Firing Up The Crowd

The chant "Lets Go Bucs" rings through the Baptist College Field House as the cheerleaders lead the crowd in cheering on the Runnin' Buccaneers. This chant, along with many others, was created when 20 young men and women gathered to practice for an upcoming game.

When trying out for a spot on the cheerleading squad, emphasis is put on personality, spirit, enthusiasm, compatibility and dedication.

"Cheerleaders need to have an exciting personality and spirit about them so that they can express their enthusiasm of representing their school," said Edie Ward, a third-year cheerleader.

This is not to say that cheerleaders don't have to be in good physical shape. "I enjoy the physical demand that cheerleading puts on you. The required athletic skills are cartwheels, round-offs, partnerstunts, cheers and side line chants," said Bruce Moyer, a first-year cheerleader.

Probably the most difficult aspect of cheering that catches the public's eye is partner stunts. "You just have to be confident in yourself and your partner and most of all have a positive attitude that you can do it," said Renee Bourque, a second-year cheerleader.

The most important aspect in cheerleading is safety. "We try to stress the importance of spotting and safety. Everyone must remain quiet during a stunt so that everyone can concentrate," said Jackie Badgett, a first-year cheerleader.

Even though there are 20 different people that form the Baptist College Cheerleading squad, they all have the same feeling—a feeling of pride and confidence. "I really enjoy showing off and representing my school," Larry Scott, a first-year cheerleader, said, expressing the feeling of the entire squad.

Many long hours of practice go in to getting a cheer or stunt ready to perform in front of the student body.

Building stunts is one way Buccaneer Cheerleaders get the crowd fired up for the home team.

Striving For Excellence

As President, Dr. Jairy Hunter is involved in every aspect of campus life. He can be seen on campus early in the morning, late in the evening and even on Saturdays.

After implementing the plan for progress which includes renewal, stability and excellence, Dr. Hunter has worked long and hard to bring the college into a new era of excellence in the classroom and in every campus activity.

Along with the faculty and staff, Dr. Hunter has won the support of South Carolina Baptists and the Charleston community. Under the Hunter administration, dreams are becoming reality at Baptist College. A high point in the year was the accreditation of the master's degree program and the affirmation of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools with the reaccreditation of the undergraduate program.

The future is bright for Baptist College under strong leadership.

Dr. and Mrs. Hunter greet guests at many college functions which they host.

Always willing to help a good cause, Dr. Hunter helps raise money for summer missions with BSU.

Administration

The Baptist College administration works diligently to carry out the mission and goals of the college. Years of education and experience combine to enable them to carry out their assignments in a professional manner.

The Baptist College Board of Trustees serves as the governing board of the college. These dedicated individuals serve the college in many capacities. Recently they have been instrumental in improving the look of the college. They give of their time and resources to make Baptist College a front-runner in private colleges.

These talented administrators and professionals are so generous because they are dedicated to the college's mission and are interested in instilling Christian values in young people while providing them with a quality education.

If you think the best way to pay for college is to put it off for a few years and join the military, you're half right.

Because with the New GI Bill, you can join the Army National Guard and get a guaranteed minimum of $18,000 for college.

But best of all, you serve two days a month and two weeks a year. Which means you can go to school full-time. Right now. On us.

So the question you have to ask yourself is not, can you afford college.

The question is, can you afford to wait.

For more information about the Army Guard and the New GI Bill, contact your local Army National Guard recruiter.

This year has been a busy one for the yearbook staff. We've tried hard to produce a more modern yearbook with a greater appeal to students. I would especially like to thank our advisor, Jan Wiles, for all her hard work and dedication to putting out a quality yearbook. Not only has Jan been our advisor, but she has been our friend, and we appreciate that. The staff (Carmen, Edie, Jayne, Juli, Tim, Gregg and Steve) has put a lot of hard work and many long hours into this yearbook, and I thank them for their time and help. Being editor has been fun and challenging for me, and we hope you enjoy this yearbook and that it will remind you of the good times you've had as a student here at Baptist College.

Sincerely,
Kyle McWhorter
Editor

A black and white photograph of a sailboat on a body of water. The sailboat has a large, light-colored sail that is partially unfurled. In the background, there are several houses and trees along the shoreline. The water is calm with some ripples. The overall tone is serene and nostalgic.

Psalm 93 “The Lord Is King” by Victor Lawson

The Lord is King.
He is clothed with majesty
and strength.
The earth is set firmly in place
and cannot be moved.
Your throne, O Lord, has been firm from the beginning,
and you existed before time began.
The ocean depths raise their voice, O Lord;
they raise their voice and roar.
The Lord rules supreme in heaven,
greater than the roar of the ocean,
more powerful than the waves
of the sea.
Your laws are eternal, Lord,
and your Temple is holy indeed,
forever and ever.

In The Garden

The innocence and wisdom of love was started by and in a garden

The garden of love.

The hope of life

was given, by Jesus, in a garden

The garden of hope.

The gift of eternal life

was given, through resurrection,
in a garden

The garden of life.

My Aunt Ella

She was warm and sweet and kind,
And she deserved a-whole-lot better
Than a broken down 'ole-timey farm
Where work was never done.

But the life she lived she loved
Until one day she fell and stumbled;
And although 'twas still alive,
Her hopes all died that day.

I can still recall the times
We shared so well together.
I can still feel all the love she gave away.
Unselfish in all her ways she gave of what she had.

Her highlight was to see the kids
And just to talk; no, nothing more.
So, when to "the home" she had to go
Her joys became those few visits that she had.

Why, oh why, is life this way; tell me
Why, oh why, couldn't I see her more?
I would have had it so.
The pure religion I want to live's
"to visit the orphans and widows in their afflictions."<sup>1</sup>
And now my life I'll live for those in need.

I'll never forget the times
that were ours
To hold inside where man can never destroy or take away;
They are mine forever more.
Aunt Ella, Aunt Ella, thank you for your love.

<sup>1</sup>from James 1:27

Wishes

A bird in midair
Wishes to forever fly
And to reach the sun
Is its final destination;
Death is short, yet eternal.

David Anderson

Tim Rice

Your love is like the sun for it is always there no matter how dark the clouds are.
Your love is like the ocean for it is always bringing in something new with each change.
Your love is like an everflowing stream for it always fulfills my thirst of love.
Your love is second to none.

Napoleon Hinton

The brackish water, filled with dangers, winding like a snake; through the rain kissed jungle that's lapping at the bank. The water's hold on its domain is a fragile one. And in a boat that rides along, an American with a gun. He lays low inside the boat praying to the Lord, but his mind goes back time and time again to his dead friends that lay on board. How long has he been here he wonders, his mind he cannot clear. He hears gun shots from the banks. He ducks his head in fear. He hears shouts, he knows not where, is it from behind that tree. How can I fight an enemy I cannot even see? "God, how I wish that death would come and take me from this place. Another day in this green-hell is something I cannot face." The boat ran aground on a delta, its sand is up too high. He hears the sound of footsteps, but its owners he cannot spy. He hunkers down inside the boat, blood from his friends he smears on his clothes, over his heart. Dead he tries to appear. He feels a presence over his body, opens his eyes to see. "Sin Loi Charlie," he shouts out loud and blows away the three. The yellow water rose a bit, his boat was underway. The clouds above shed their tears for the third time again that day. "I'm getting old before my time, older than I seem. Six months left on my tour, it seems like a bad dream." Half a year of hell to pay, for being seventeen.

*Breezes move the palms
Which call across the dry sands
to the seas*

*Voices cry their history
Souls declare their presence the future struggles for victory.*

*Lives of simplicity droop in masses through aged brick structures
Buildings stare blankly as their blood
flows from their souls.
Souls slain with life weep
in vain for their tender children
Kids laugh in stupidity fighting for their lives.*

The Separation from the Safe Secure Sword

Dead,
but not inside of the head;
Behind,
just dimly alive in the mind.

The adolescents have memories of their sweet childhood
And often dream about them being relived.
The pictures of what's to happen around the curve
Are distorted and frightful, thus unbelieved.

The elderly know how friends come and go with each season,
Resembling the autumn leaves of a tree drifting away.
The pain of the loved ones fading
Brings the sighing wonder-of-why it's this way.

Activity,
shortening lives boring longevity;
Courtships,
for life has a few sweet lips.

The young go to invented parties
Filled with songs of sorrow
and happiness;
Living life with laughter,
To keep from feeling life's sting of sloppiness.

The wise try to teach those growing-up
Of the change that is a major part of life's hoard;
For time, which is always passing
by, causes change,
Hurting those who have to leave behind their victorious safe, secure sword.

“Centelle La Vie”

I often feel as if I will never diversify, and will stay solitary forever. If I could only see my hopes, dreams, and aspirations for a split second, it would be the greatest joy on earth, that is, other than to be loved. To be in a world full of people and feel desolate is a sin against yourself, although it seems to be quite prevalent in our society. One aspect of loneliness is not knowing yourself as well as you expect others to know you. There are many things I desire to accomplish, but none can be achieved unless I first aspire to succeed. It seems that without true intent goals are useless. In some cases excellence in a moderate amount is better than falling short of outrageous goals. Everyone must have a preoccupation of some kind, in order to maintain a certain degree of sanity. To be well-rounded is a sinful necessity. Usually the only time obstacles are seen is when I take my eyes off my goal. One of the hardest sensations to define, in composition, is love. Although in true feelings, it is defined many times, in many ways, during a person's existence. To explain love is an impossibility, but to demonstrate it is a must. Everyone leaves his/her mark on the world, no matter the person, some just leave a more permanent one, that's all. Always be blithe about who you are, and always make an effort to refurbish, and you will succeed in all you ever do. Accuracy is not always important, the fact that you tried shows your perspicaciousness.

A Time and A Way

If the living God we know
Wants you to be mine
Though the days are passing slow
Love will find a time.

Though the fond impatience flays
With a constant beat
Through each minute of the day
Seeming to retreat.

In my youth, each hour strained
As I urged it pass
Now I count each falling grain
Through the hourglass.

Everything that cries a need
Has a final turn
and the rules are all decreed
As we press on and yearn.

I will heed the poets' word
Listening, as they say
Wisdom that the years have heard
Love will find a way.

Mary Jane G. Hamilton

Sometimes there's time to forget
all the trouble you've been through.
There's still too much in life that you'll need to do.
Those feelings will find your heart and make it ache again.
Every heart will learn to break—
and every one to mend.
Even though the time can make it stop there'll still be smiles and fears.
And those times will bring the sun—
those times will bring the rain.
Sometimes there's time to forget
and start all over again.

When I'm tired the Bible is my Bed.
When I'm hungry the Bible is my Bread.
When I'm at my daily occupation the Bible is my tool.
When there are things I fail to Understand the Bible is my School.
I was sailing and realized my Boat started to sink
my Bible was solid ground.
When I read my Bible I didn't make a sound.
When I'm cold the Bible is my Heat.
When my stomach is empty, the Bible is my meat.
My Bible and I we've been through quite a time together.
My Bible and I stayed together through all kinds of weather.
We've been together through the tempest and through the calm.
My Bible will always be my testimony and song.
While King Jesus never left my side.
My Bible was my co-pilot and my guide.
I will always have my Bible Until my Very last Sigh.
We are inseparable my Bible and I.

A Morning Wish

When I awoke this morning
The world was at my door
The memories of yesterday
Were precious as before.

The morning birds stood at my feet
The grass was moist with dew
The splendor here would be complete
If I could be with you.

I thought of words that we have shared
To comfort every day and cheerful thoughts of things to come that speed me on my way.

The forest leaves that bring us life
Were lifted to the sun
Their branches reached to touch the bird
That sang for everyone.

The beauty of the autumn leaves
Adorned the distant hills
The valley lea was one bouquet of golden daffodils.

The wish I made in silent awe
Was for this world to stay
In beauty as it was this morn
For us to share each day.

At the crux
Of the destination
Of which
I was oblivious
Though scheming
I discovered (later)
When awakened to disappointment
A lack of propellation
To travel
Not another mile.

Buccaneer Spirit ran high at BCC this year under the theme "Catch the Spirit." Students rallied together to prove that dreams can become reality. It was a year like any other, yet there was a difference. Baptist College met the challenge and has come out on top. BCC is a presence to be reckoned with on the ball field and in competition in the job market. Baptist students have caught the spirit . . . knowing that they will always be a part of the Baptist College family.
